ICPA WA 48th Annual State Conference

The Isolated Children's Parents' Association of Western Australia (ICPA WA) expects more than 100 delegates and guests from all over Western Australia to attend its Annual State Conference to be held at the Rendezvous Hotel, Scarborough on March 13th, 2020.

This year's theme will be 'Building a Better World, One Student at Time'. With the recent droughts and fires throughout the whole of Australia it is a timely reminder of the challenges faced by regional families. "Access to equitable education should not add to these challenges, but unfortunately it does," said ICPA (WA) State President, Tash Johns.

"The education of every single child is of the utmost importance, and every one of those children should have access to equitable education. It is in these times of adversity that rural communities come together, and this highlights the importance of keeping families together in regional areas. It is imperative that educators in our regional schools continue to receive the necessary support in the deliverance of education services."

The conference is an excellent opportunity for members to voice their concerns on education issues and the effect the Regional Education Cuts continue to have on regional areas, plus discuss other important education issues

"Attendees will debate motions put forward by members as well as engage with stakeholders and speakers. The conference plays a crucial role in providing support to families in regional areas, providing a voice for their concerns, making new connections and reconnecting with others. Members are united in their quest of educating their children and that commonality provides a great deal of comfort to families that are spread throughout our vast state." Ms Johns said. "ICPA (WA) is their voice for regional education."

The Minister for Education, Hon. Sue Ellery is attending the conference to speak. This will give ICPA members the opportunity to hear firsthand the updates in relation to changes that have been made throughout the process of the Regional Education Cuts.

Keynote speaker is Claire Eaton, ROC mindset coach for youth and parents. With 25 years' experience as an Educator, Speaker and ROC mindset Coach for adolescents and their families, Claire will share some of her knowledge, tools and tips to help build Resilience, Optimism and Confidence in our children, especially considering how we have to parent and educate from a distance.

There will also be many politicians and media in attendance, this will help to highlight how the education cuts continue to affect so many West Australians.

"ICPA provides many levels of support to its' members both at a State and Federal level through its assistance for allowances, teacher training, student travel and connectivity. ICPA advocates on behalf of parents with children aged from early childhood to post compulsory. ICPA believe every child has the right to an education and should not be disadvantage by the tyranny of distance; be that distance physical or for some other means. Our children are our future, they have the chance to make our world a better place.

Conference topics will include the recent changes to the application of the Road Travel Subsidy, the reduction of the Boarding Away from Home Allowance, Conveyancing Allowances and the management of the regional Camp Schools.

Major sponsors of the event are Telstra.

Grain Brokers Australia Weekly Market Report

Sorghum production forecast to be lowest in 50 years…

What a difference a month makes. Substantial rainfall across the majority of nation's winter and summer cropping regions over the last four weeks, on top of isolated storms in the preceding five weeks, has swung the mood across rural Australia from one of heightened pessimism to one of guarded optimism.

The vision on our television screens of flooded roads, overflowing gutters, children playing in puddles and farmers dancing in the rain have been a welcome distraction from the summer bushfires and the global coronavirus pandemic.

While there is still a long way to go, the general change to the weather pattern has growers and consumers across the country genuinely excited about crop prospects for 2020 and the possibility of a significant turnaround in domestic grain supply compared to the previous two seasons.

After such a prolonged dry spell, particularly in the eastern states, the soil moisture in many regions was at record low levels entering 2020. Replenishing those soil moisture reserves will be a long process with above-average rainfall required for a prolonged period of time.

The recent widespread falls have started the process of reducing the significant rainfall and soil moisture deficits accumulated over the last couple of years. However, despite substantial registrations in many locations, most were still below the long term average for the December to February period.

The rainfall has not been confined to the cropping regions. Drought affected pastoral districts have seen an unbelievable turnaround in pasture growth and feed availability. But most graziers were forced to substantially reduce stock numbers during the drought as the cost of maintaining livestock became prohibitive.

They are now looking to restock as quickly as possible to utilise the abundant forage. The challenge here is the rains have been so widespread that the demand for restocking quality sheep and cattle is unprecedented. It has forced the price of store stock in sale yards across the country to extraordinary levels.

Many livestock producers who have the option of planting a winter crop are looking to sow paddocks that haven't seen a tractor for many years as the costs involved in buying stock make growing a crop a much better financial option this season.

Growers with mixed farming enterprises will almost certainly have an extra paddock or two allocated to winter crop when planting commences as their livestock numbers are well below normal levels. This means that the potential area available for winter cropping in the eastern states of Australia in 2020 will be substantially higher than in recent years. The potential for a big crop is building, but there is still a very long way to go.

Meanwhile, in Queensland and northern New South Wales, the limited area sown to sorghum this summer now has a genuine shot at achieving average yields, assuming regular rainfall continues for the balance of the growing season. It is extremely difficult to get an accurate handle on the actual area sown as the planting rains came so late. Suffice to say it was well below the total area growers intended to plant if the rains had been timelier.

At this stage, total production in Central Queensland, Southern Queensland and New South Wales are estimated to be 250,000 metric tonne, 125,000 metric tonne and 75,000 metric tonne respectively. That comes to a total of 450,000 metric tonne and would make it the smallest Australian sorghum harvest since the 1969/70 season.

One of the biggest challenges of a late sown sorghum crop in southern Queensland and northern New South Wales is the autumn/winter harvest. Getting grain moisture readings down to acceptable levels can be a challenge as the days are quite short, there is invariably a morning dew, and the daytime temperatures are much cooler. The harvest also tends to be occurring when the winter crop is being planted which strains farm resources and challenges management priorities.

In international sorghum news, the United States Department of Agriculture has revealed, via its daily reporting system, that China has purchased 110,000 metric tonne sorghum. The global trade has been waiting for news of grain sales to China as a sign that it was starting to fulfil the Phase 1 commitments it signed off on in mid-January.

Last week's transaction is the first single sale of more than 100,000 tonne of any agricultural commodity to China since the trade deal was signed. As part of the continuous disclosure regulations in the United States, exporters must promptly report such transactions, commonly referred to as flash sales. Sales of smaller amounts only have to be reported on a weekly basis.

According to USDA export data, China has booked more than 475,000 metric tonnes of sorghum this marketing year. However, that total does not include sales of 325,00 metric tonne to 'unknown destinations' in the third week of February. Sales tagged accordingly are usually destined for China, and the trade is confident they were the buyer in this instance.

The USDA estimates that the US farmer planted 1.9 million hectares of sorghum last summer. This is 7 per cent lower than the previous two seasons and is well down on the peak of 6.7 million hectares back in 1986/87. Production in that year was just short of 29 million metric tonne, compared to 8.7 million metric tonne this marketing year.

China has been a traditional destination for Australian sorghum in recent years, particularly for the Baijiu market, But, one thing is certain, Australia will not be challenging the United States for bulk sorghum business into China in 2020.

What's happening at the Newdegate Community Resource Centre

On Thursday 5th March the Newdegate CRC ran a Kokedama workshop with Vicki DeLandgrafft.

Kokedama is a form of Japanese art and translates as 'Moss Ball' which sums it up pretty well. Traditionally Kokedama is the practice of taking the root ball of a plant and suspending it in a mud ball, which is then coated with soft green moss. It is a living planter as well as a distinctive display piece.

Last Thursday we planted our different plants in a mixture of cactus mix and pete then covered it in readily available sphagnum moss before wrapping it in twine to keep it all together.

I know a few people were interested in the class but couldn't make the date so we will be running another session on a Wednesday hopefully before seeding so watch this space! Massive thanks to Vicki for coming out to run the class!

Personnel: Sgt. Travis Taylor, SC Fiona Main

Most of you will be aware from last week's news, that Travis is off on his trip around Europe. Also, Fiona is leaving next week for her epic adventure climbing to Everest base camp, is she ready for it? Who knows?? Is anyone ever ready? The temperature at the moment is -10/11 degrees celcius at Everest Base Camp…..Scottish summer!! She'll be right.

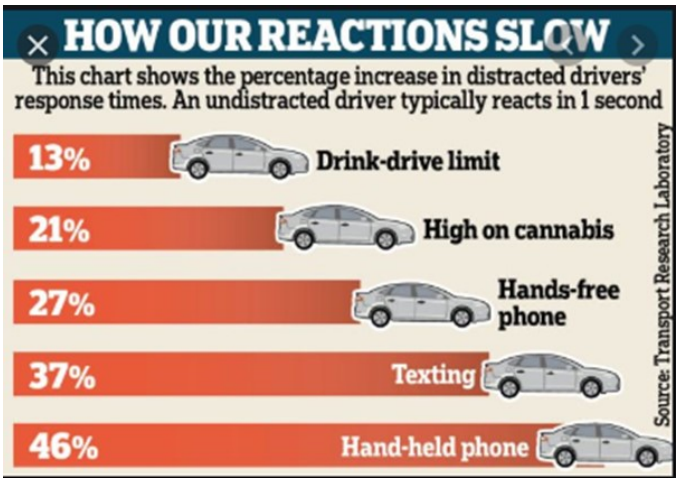
That leaves Scott in town for the next few weeks. Luckily, Travis being prepared as he is, has arranged Senior Constable Nathan Gilmour who will be acting up as duty sergeant to come along and assist Scott for the next couple of weeks until Travis returns.

Nathan is a very experienced officer having worked around the state, including specialising in traffic (which won't please some of you). Scott and Nathan will be able to look after you all whilst Travis and Fiona are away galivanting around the globe, feel free to pop in and meet your stand in sergeant, and keep him on his toes.

This week, we have again, been dealing with accidents. There seems to be a recurrent trend in the accidents we have been dealing with lately, and that is that people think that it is ok to go to the pub, have a few beers and drive home. I understand that we live in a rural area with no access to taxi's, or ride shares, however it is NEVER acceptable to drink and drive.

As you can see, there are a lot more fatalities caused in regional roads than in metro areas, admittedly these are not all in relation to drink driving, however drink driving is one of the top offences which cause your reaction times to slow, and our roads are dark and bendy, and we have our fair share of wildlife to factor in to this.

If you come across a Kangaroo (apparently every swerves to avoid a Kangaroo when they crash), your reaction time will be 13% slower than if you had no alcohol in your system. All of us here are a bit fed up dealing with accidents involving drink drivers, so we will have no issue in stopping people randomly, and carrying out a breath test. The less drink driving we have, the safer our roads become.



Be prepared and have a designated driver on standby, or walk if you can, just look after each other. Your families will thank you for it, I'm sure.

We also have had bit of issue with park drinking reported to us a few weeks ago. The below picture was taken of the mess left behind by some of our locals at the back of the oval. We have beer bottle, cider bottles, and empty cartons.

In all honesty, this is possibly not a bad place to have a gathering, as its away from houses etc. I'm not condoning street drinking in any way, but if you insist in having a gathering in this area, please tidy up after yourselves. No one has made us aware of the people causing this mess being a nuisance at the time, but the mess left being is certainly a nuisance. This is your town people, please have a thought for the other 550 or so residents and clean up after yourselves.

That's it from us for now.
Lake Grace Police.

Protect yourself from viruses

Follow these simple steps to protect yourself from viruses.

WASH YOUR HANDS

Keeping your hands clean is the best way to get rid of germs. Make sure you wash your hands often with soap and warm water, or an alcohol-based rub (hand sanitiser).

COVER COUGHS AND SNEEZES

It is important that you use disposable tissues rather than your hands or a handkerchief when you cough or sneeze. Make sure you always:

- cover coughs and sneezes with a tissue or use your inner elbow
- put the tissue into a closed-top bin as soon as possible
- then wash your hands with soap and warm water, or use hand sanitiser.

STAY HOME

If you are sick, stay home from work or school.

Viruses can be very serious for some people including young children, older people, pregnant women, Aboriginal people and people with chronic medical conditions – so it is especially important to keep your distance from these people.

A very simple way to reduce the spread of germs is to stand or sit away from people when you or they are coughing or sneezing (at least 1 metre – about an arm's length).

KEEP SURFACES CLEAN

Clean your home and work surfaces regularly to help get rid of germs, this includes:

- phones
- door handles
- children's toys
- keyboards.

You can use warm water and detergent to do this. Avoid using antibacterial cleansers (disinfectants) as these can make germs resistant to them.

Fine for failing to attend to injured sheep

A Meckering man has been fined $12,500 in Northam Magistrates Court for animal cruelty while transporting sheep.

A consignment of sheep were transported to the Muchea saleyard in May 2017, when one animal jumped off the top deck of the truck during unloading, falling approximately 4.5 metres and injuring its back.

The man observed the accident and attended to the fallen sheep by dragging it to a nearby laneway where he left the sheep alive and in an injured state.

The animal was found approximately three hours later, was suffering and subsequently had to be euthanised.

The man was fined $4000 for dragging the injured sheep and $8,500 for leaving the injured sheep.
Department regional compliance manager Russell Adams said the conviction was a reminder of the need to comply with the Animal Welfare Act 2002 whilst transporting animals.

“If an animal is suffering, it must be dealt with in a humane manner so as not to cause unnecessary harm,” Mr Adams.

To report suspected cruelty to animals, contact the RSPCA on 1300 278 3589.

New technology for WA’s Electricity Network

The State Government continues to roll out stand-alone power systems (SPS), with Western Power planning an additional 100 units for Round 2 of the SPS project.

The units are being installed in the Mid-West, Goldfields, eastern Wheatbelt and the Great Southern regions.

The SPS project follows the success of a pilot trial in 2016, which significantly improved power reliability with customers avoiding more than 200 hours of power interruptions over the past three years.

Round 1 of the SPS project involved installing 57 SPS units this year.

Comments attributed to Energy Minister Bill Johnston: "The McGowan Government is committed to revitalising our energy sector, and ensuring our system provides reliable and safe power, while utilising new and emerging technologies.

"Stand-alone power systems provide an economical alternative to replacing poles and wires in many low population density rural areas. This project is also boosting local jobs with supplier Hybrid increasing employees from seven to 29, including six apprentices, providing valuable training and skills for young locals.”

Pingrup Races - 21st March 2020

The Pingrup Race Club has been meeting once a year in March since 1932. Each year professional jockeys and horse trainers travel from Perth, Albany and Narrogin to take part in the annual Pingrup Race Meet.

People from all over the district and beyond will travel to keep the event running and hopefully walk away with a win. Regional events like this are important as they provide economical, social and cultural benefits to the community as well as increasing the regions profile through media exposure.

As always the day will run 6 Races throughout the day starting at 1pm, including the Murray Reid memorial cup. There will be a traditional outside bar, wine tasting, fashions on the field, entertainment throughout the day, a bouncy castle for kids and then two up in the evening and live music at night

There is on site camping available and a recovery breakfast is provided in the morning.

Holt Rock Hoedown 2020

On the 4th November 1987 a meeting of 7 people took place at the Westfield tavern. It was here that the Westfield Country Music Club was formed and the first club night was held at the same tavern on 7th November.

Since the clubs start they have held monthly BBQ's, several cabarets and have co-run the Avon Country Music Festival. In 2001 the Westfield Country Music Festival set its sights on Holt Rock and thus the Holt Rock Hoedown was born.

Since October 2001 there have been two Holt Rock Hoedowns each year held on the Strother's Family Farm. Proceeds from the event are donated to different charities. Since its start the Holt Rock Hoedown has raised over $40,000 for various charities.

The weekend is typical of one found in a small rural area, it is a weekend filled with good honest fun, lots of delicious food and fantastic country music. This year Billy Higginson and the Pale Moon Riders will be the main band but there are plenty of budding musicians too. All proceeds will be donated to Beyond Blue which is an Australian independent non-profit organisation working to address issues associated with depression, suicide, anxiety disorders and other related mental disorders.

If you're looking for something different to do the first weekend of April take advantage of this great local event and grab your partner and get ready to do si do the night away.

Officially the end of summer

Autumn in Australia starts on March 1 and ends May 31. In the northern hemisphere, March 20 or 21 is actually the Spring equinox and marks the start of spring. In the southern hempisphere this is the vernal equinox and should be the de facto start of autumn.

The Australian seasons have been simplified by starting each season on the first day of the season's starting month. So summer begins on December 1, autumn on March 1, winter on June 1 and spring on September 1.

The average temperature in Newdegate in Autumn is a 26° high and 12° low. The days become cooler but not cold and thanks to the heat of the summer the ocean reaches its peak temperature in March. WA Autumns should (hopefully) see some showers to freshen everything up and the patchy clouds means epic sunsets.

Autumn will also bring a change in fruit from stoned fruit to apples and pears. March will see the last of the peaches, plums, nectarines and apricots so make sure you stock up and enjoy the last of them for the year.

Autumn in Perth welcomes Sculpture by the Sea. This is one of Perth's largest free events, attracting international artists to display their astonishing work on the sand and grassy foreshore at Cottesloe.

The works play with the environment in intriguing ways, capturing the imagination and inviting interaction. As the sun goes down, many of the artworks change with the light, keeping you mesmerised as you stroll along the sand or relax on the grassy banks overlooking the ocean. Whilst in Perth you may be lucky enough to see a blue whale. Blue Whales arrive in the Perth canyon to feed on the krill.

Recycling Services

Household Waste Collection is a weekly service and collected each Monday for Lake Grace, Newdegate, Lake King & Varley.

Recycling is a fortnightly service and alternates between Lake Grace & Newdegate. See below for the upcoming recycling collection dates.

Lake Grace	Newdegate
Tuesday 17 March 2020	Tuesday 24 March 2020
Tuesday 31 March 2020	Tuesday 7 April 2020

Please Note: There is no kerbside recycling collection service in Lake King or Varley.

The recycling bins are collected by Warren Blackwood Waste and transported to a recycling facility. If items which are not recyclable are found the content can't be recycled and the load will be directed to the landfill.

If an item is covered in food, it is not recyclable. Food is one of the worst contaminators in the recycling process.

By using the yellow top recycling bin correctly you are contributing, in a combined community effort, to reduce the amount of rubbish that is directed to landfill facilities each year. For more information on Waste Management visit the Shire's website www.lakegrace.wa.gov.au.

Is your top loader recalled?

Recalled Samsung top loader washing machines remain in Australian homes, creating a serious fire hazard that puts lives at risk.

We want anyone who has a Samsung top loader to check the model number on the back of the machine above the barcode, and make sure it's not a recalled machine listed at www.samsung.com/au/washingmachinerecall.

The recalled models, including SW75V9WIP; SW65V9WIP; SW70SPWIP; SW80SPWIP; WA85GWGIP and WA85GWWIP, were manufactured between 2010 and 2013. You may have bought one brand new from the shops 7-10 years ago or second-hand any time in the last decade.

14,483 units were sold in Western Australia and in a progress report released late January 2020, Samsung reported 11,247 units in WA were resolved – meaning they've been reworked, exchanged or the consumer has had a refund. That leaves 3,236 outstanding, although we think a number will have been dumped at the tip due to age of the machines.

Affected units have an internal fault where condensation can penetrate an electrical connector causing deterioration which may in turn cause a fire – most recently this happened in Armadale in October 2019 but thankfully no-one was injured. In that instance the consumer was entitled to recover damages from Samsung for consequential loss or damage, suffered as a result of the faulty product.

It's really important for anyone who finds out they have a recalled washing machine to disconnect it from the power supply immediately, not use it again and contact Samsung on 1800 239 655 for a refund and removal of the machine.

As this is regarded as a major fault, repair is not an option. Affected consumers will get their money back and the supplier should dispose of the dangerous machine.

Recalled machines should not be re-sold, given away for free or placed on the verge for bulk rubbish collection because the aim is to remove any possibility of them being used by people who may not realise that they are dangerous.

Consumers who have any problems securing a refund or having the machine collected should contact Consumer Protection by email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au or call 1300 30 40 54. And for any recalls, look at the Product Safety Australia website www.productsafety.gov.au.

Passionfruit shortbread eggs

INGREDIENTS

- 125g butter, softened
- 1/2 cup pure icing sugar, plus extra for dusting
- 1 cup plain flour
- 1/4 cup cornflour

Passionfruit Curd

- 1 egg
- 1 egg yolk
- 1/3 cup caster sugar
- 2 1/2 tsp cornflour
- 75g butter
- 1/4 cup passionfruit pulp

METHOD

1. Using an electric mixer, beat butter and icing sugar for 5 minutes or until light and fluffy. Sift over plain flour and cornflour. Stir to combine. Turn dough out onto a lightly floured surface. Knead until smooth. Wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate for 20 minutes.

2. Preheat oven to 170C/150C fan-forced. Grease 2 large baking trays. Line with baking paper.

3. Using a rolling pin, roll out dough between 2 sheets of baking paper until 3mm thick. Using a 5.5cm x 7.5cm oval cutter, cut 24 ovals from dough, re-rolling and cutting trimmings. Place, 2cm apart, on prepared baking trays. Refrigerate for 10 minutes. Using a 3cm round cutter and the picture as a guide, cut rounds from 12 ovals and discard. Bake for 12 to 15 minutes or until just firm to touch, but not browned. Stand on trays for 5 minutes. Transfer to a wire rack to cool completely.

4. Meanwhile, make Passionfruit Curd: Place egg, egg yolk, sugar and cornflour in a small, heavy-based saucepan. Whisk to combine. Add butter and passionfruit pulp. Place over medium heat. Cook, stirring with a wooden spoon, for 7 to 8 minutes or until mixture thickens and coats the back of the spoon. Remove from heat. Strain through a sieve into a heatproof bowl. Discards seeds. Stand for 5 minutes. Cover surface with plastic wrap. Set aside to cool completely.

5. Spread 1 teaspoon curd on uncut biscuits. Sandwich with remaining biscuits. Spoon 1 teaspoon remaining curd into each small round in biscuit to form ‘yolk’. Dust biscuits with extra icing sugar. Serve.
